Proposal deadline: January 21, 2019

The New England Conference of Music Theorists (NECMT) is pleased to announce its thirty-fourth annual meeting, which will be held April 13–14, 2019, at McGill University in Montreal, Quebec. We are soliciting proposals on any topic related to music theory or analysis. Presentations will be thirty minutes, with ten minutes for discussion. We are also continuing to invite proposals for eight-minute “lightning” talks, each followed by five minutes of discussion.

All submissions must be electronic, and will include three separate components:

1. The proposal itself, with a maximum length of 750 words (word count excludes bibliography and examples), and with no more than two pages for examples and bibliography. Proposals on any music theoretical or analytical topic are welcome; papers on traditionally under-represented repertoires (including jazz and world musics) are especially encouraged. Proposals must include the title of the paper, but should contain no identification of the author. References to the author’s own work must occur in the third person. NB: Indicate on your proposal whether you wish to be considered for EITHER the 30-minute format OR the 8-minute “lightning” talk format.
2. An abstract of 250 words or less, suitable for publication.
3. In the body of your email, please provide: your name, address, phone, email, academic affiliation, the title of your proposal, your choice of 30-minute or 8-minute format, and any special equipment or arrangements required. Proposals for panels will be considered as well; the submission requirements for panel proposals are the same as for individual ones, except they need not be anonymous. (The Program Committee reserves the right to accept individual proposals drawn from the panel.) For more information, contact Christopher White at the address shown below.

Submissions may be in pdf, doc, or docx formats (doc or docx preferred!) and must be received no later than January 21, 2019. Email to: Christopher White at cwmwhite@umass.edu with the subject line “NECMT Abstract.”
